WHO LAUGHS LAST ... COMEDY AGAINST CRISIS

Our film collection forms the stalwart basis of this show in which we direct our attention to the moment of "crisis." Or, rather, to the most effective weapon with which mankind has mastered the worst situations: laughter. In the immortal words of Charlie Chaplin, "Life is a tragedy when seen in close-up, but a comedy in long-shot." His anti-Nazi satire The Great Dictator is perhaps the most famous example of comedy's resistance to a looming global catastrophe.

RADICAL POLITICAL FILM FOR THE MASSES

Želimir Žilnik's 1980s TV films – a Selection

Between 1977 and 1990, Želimir Žilnik worked for Yugoslavian public television, perfecting his unique method of docufiction and at the same time establishing a system for reaching the largest audience possible with radical political cinema. In cooperation with the Kunsthalle Wien, we will show a selection of six films from this period of ecstatic creativity.

RECYCLED CINEMA

Together with the Viennale and in cooperation with sixpackfilm, the Film Museum dedicated its comprehensive Recycled Cinema retrospective last October/November to the manifold manifestations of found footage cinema. However, a few programs from the series could no longer be shown because the second lockdown came into effect. We are happy to present these screenings now.

AMOS VOGEL ATLAS

Along with a great variety of events the Film Museum has in store to mark the centenary of Amos Vogel's birth, the Amos Vogel Atlas will continue, once again tracing the astonishing variety of forms Vogel brought together in his idea of cinema – from avant-garde to animation, from documents of all kinds to idiosyncratic feature films.

PAUL WENNINGER. FILMS & CARTE BLANCHE

Paul Wenninger is an artist who is hard to pigeonhole. With a background in dance, the fifty-five-year-old has long been preoccupied with the question of the choreography of the object. With Wenninger, the film becomes a choreographic work, the body an object. To achieve this, the Viennese-born director likes to put himself in front of the camera or works with dancers. The artist has also invited three other films to be screened as part of the program.

DRIFTWOOD

"Toxi" and Black occupation children

Ingrid Bauer, Azziza B. Malanda and Philipp Rohrbach present the new issue of zeitgeschichte (Contemporary History): "Black GI Children in Post-World War II Europe." The starting point is the tragicomedy Toxi (FRG, 1952), whose five-year-old Black title character captured the sympathy of cinema audiences of the time.
